

2017 CAPITOL CURRENTS

30th Alaska State Legislature ~ 1st Session

Second Edition – 1/23 to 1/29/17

– 76 Days to go! –

~ Medicaid Expansion and Reform update given by DHSS ~

HIGHLIGHTS

This past week saw quite a few overviews by various departments and their divisions to bring legislators and staff up to date on the services and programs that they provide. Numerous budget summaries also got top billing in the building.

A few bills were also heard, as in legislation (SB 23) to provide benefits to children and spouses of law enforcement and firefighters killed in the line of duty. This bill is currently in the House Finance Committee and scheduled to be heard again this week.

Rep. Tammie Wilson has begun a dialogue regarding the Office of Children Services (OCS), which is under the Dept. of Health & Social Services. She has scheduled meetings all over the state this session and summer to listen to public testimony about this particular agency. Coincidentally, the Alaska OCS is scheduled for a federal audit this year.

The number of children in Alaska's foster care system has risen dramatically in the past two years. More than 2,800 children were in the system at the start of 2016, up from 1,860 in 2012.

Divorce courts in Alaska will now treat pets more like children. HB 147 passed last year and just took effect last week. It makes us the first state in the country to require courts to take into consideration the well being of animals. Judges can now assign “joint custody” for a pet.

The former state-owned Matanuska Maid milk bottling plant in Palmer could soon be bottling beer. Matanuska Brewing Co. LLC has secured financing to buy the old building.

BUDGET ISSUES

The Dept. of Revenue's 2016 Fall Revenue Forecast is projecting an increase of $177 million over the current fiscal year to $1.6 billion.

The Alaska Senate Democrats have pitched their budget plan calling for reworking oil tax policy and implementing broad based taxes before moving to the potential use of earnings from the Permanent Fund and a state income tax.

Meanwhile, the Senate Republican majority is pursuing $300 million more in cuts this year. They won't support any use of the Permanent Fund until there is a spending limit in place.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES

An amendment (SJR 2) to our constitution was introduced to strengthen the constitutional appropriation limit enacted by voters in the past. According to a press release, it would lower the baseline for government spending to reflect the state's current fiscal reality and cap the spending limit in succeeding years. If passed, it wouldn't go to the voters until 2018.

HEALTH & SOCIAL SERVICES ISSUES

Updates on Medicaid expansion and reform, were presented in both House and Senate Health & Social Services Committee this past week. SB 74 (Medicaid reform) was passed last year to restructure and help save tens of millions of dollars over the next several years.

The Alaska Opioid Policy Task Force recommends collaborative prevention, treatment and recovery support strategies to reduce opioid misuse in Alaska. They have issued a broad set of recommendations to prevent, treat, and support recovery from opioid misuse and addiction. Access those recommendations here. <http://dhss.alaska.gov/AKOpioidTaskForce/Pages/default.aspx>

A bill signed into law on May 11th opened up new opportunities for disabled Alaskans late in 2016. HB 188 also known as the Alaska ABLE Plan allows people to invest money on behalf of young disabled people. Before the plan's start, those disabled faced strict limits on the amount they could save. Those who saved more than $2,000 risked having their federal benefits revoked or reduced.

PUBLIC SAFETY ISSUES

An overview of the implementation of Senate Bill 91 of the 29th Alaska Legislature had an exhaustive hearing this past Friday in Senate Judiciary. This was the omnibus crime legislation that rewrote law and rules of law throughout the Alaska Statutes. Hearings on this bill continue in the coming week.

Some people are already pressuring lawmakers to change the new law. The goal was to reduce prison overcrowding and reduce recidivism by giving low risk offenders treatment instead of time behind bars.

Earlier in the week, there was a presentation by the Alaska Criminal Justice Commission also given in Senate Judiciary. They will again be giving testimony this week in the same committee.

In a landmark agreement designed to combat crime in rural Alaska, the state and Anvik's tribal government have inked a deal giving the tribe the authority to prosecute low-level criminal offenses the state previously handled — as long as the offender agrees.

NATURAL RESOURCE ISSUES

The federal government has declared a fishery disaster for the low Pink Salmon harvests in the Gulf of Alaska for 2016. This, on the heels of the state's request for such a declaration. This action provides Congress with a basis to appropriate disaster relief funding for economic assistance to affected communities.

Alaska's proposed 3-fold tax hike for gasoline will still be lower than the US average. Matter of fact, it is the lowest in the nation. The gas tax in our state has not increased since 1970.

GOVERNOR'S CORNER

<http://gov.alaska.gov>

The governor's office posts' press releases and other items of interest at the website above.

The governor has introduced legislation that would bring the State of Alaska in compliance with the federal REAL ID Act, and prevent travel restrictions on residents with a REAL ID-compliant Alaska driver license. Passed by Congress in 2005, REAL ID establishes national standards on the manufacture and issuance of driver licenses and identification cards to improve security and limit the production of false ID's. Governor Walker's legislation would allow Alaskans to choose between REAL ID-compliant and regular, noncompliant identification cards and driver licenses.
